ABOUT THE SKIN OF COLOR SOCIETY

WHO ARE WE

The Skin of Color Society (SOCS) is a global leader in advancing skin of color dermatology, with members and supporters spanning 30 countries. Founded in 2004 by Dr. Susan C. Taylor, SOCS is dedicated to promoting excellence through research, education, mentorship, and advocacy. SOCS focuses on broadening engagement and excellence in dermatology by training medical students, residents, and fellows to provide culturally competent care. Its patient-centered membership includes experts across dermatology subspecialties—medical, cosmetic, and surgical—working in private practice, public service, and academia. Your financial support helps fund initiatives that benefit thousands of current and future dermatologists.

Key Funding Opportunities

Dermatology Research Award: Annually we provide multiple $20,000 grants to fuel innovative research within the SOC dermatology field. This funding is designed to foster groundbreaking studies and encourage new perspectives in addressing the unique challenges faced by individuals with skin of color.

Career Development Award: This two-year grant, totaling $100,000, is a significant investment in the future of dermatology. It focuses on inflammatory dermatologic diseases prevalent in SOC, areas that are in dire need of more clinical, translational, and basic research. This award aims to empower researchers to explore and develop new treatments and understanding in these critical areas.

Early Career Innovations Grant: This $30,000 grant serves as a launchpad for young, visionary dermatologists and innovators. We provide essential start-up funding to those who are brimming with creative solutions and approaches to address the unmet needs and opportunities within the SOC dermatology ecosystem. These awards are designed to support the next generation of dermatologists who are committed to making a difference in this field.

Institutional Research Fellowship Grant: Provides up to $40,000 to support medical institutions and early-career physicians conducting critical research on skin of color dermatologic diseases. This program expands access to care, enhances training, and fosters leadership in clinical care, policy, and research.

We believe that through these funding opportunities and the support of dedicated partners, we can significantly enhance our understanding and treatment of dermatological conditions in SOC. Join us in this journey to make a lasting impact in the realm of SOC dermatology.

MENTORSHIP AND OBSERVERSHIP

MARCH-DECEMBER 2025

SUPPORT GROUNDBREAKING DERMATOLOGY MENTORSHIP

The SOCS is dedicated to expanding access and opportunities in dermatology to improve patient care. We use mentorship to build a diverse workforce and prepare future leaders in the field. We are also committed to removing barriers to careers by supporting students and early-career physicians from underrepresented backgrounds, expanding access to education, and strengthening the healthcare pathway to better serve diverse communities.

SOCS is seeking corporate partners to contribute financial support to help extend the impact of our mentorship programs:

SOCS Mentorship Program:

A comprehensive program that connects young physicians, residents, and medical students with an approved skin of color expert from SOCS.

SOCS Mentorship

SOCS SERVES

| 2025 - 2026

ABOUT SOCS SERVES

SCAN TO LEARN MORE

The Pathway:

This arm focuses on increasing diversity in dermatology by inspiring and guiding students from underrepresented backgrounds and those dedicated to health equity along the medical career pathway. It engages K-12 students, college students, and medical students through age-appropriate workshops, mentorship, panels, and interactive presentations, both virtually and in-person. SOCS members will be equipped with standardized toolkits and resources to host these events locally, often in collaboration with schools, youth organizations, and nonprofit partners.

The Community:

This arm addresses dermatologic health disparities by delivering medical education, resources, and patient care-focused outreach directly to underserved populations. Events led by SOCS members provide essential information on common skin concerns such as sun protection and skin cancer, hair loss and hair care, dry skin care, acne, and inflammatory disorders such as Atopic Dermatitis (AD), Prurigo Nodularis (PN), Psoriasis, Hidradenitis Suppurativa (HS), and other dermatologic diseases and conditions that disproportionately impact communities of color. Toolkits ensure consistent, evidence-based and culturally relevant messaging. Events may also include access to skincare samples and local care referrals.

REPORTING & RETURN ON INVESTMENT (ROI)

All levels of support include a return on investment package scaled to the tier of sponsorship. SOCS is committed to delivering meaningful data and storytelling that demonstrate our shared impact.

Our ROI deliverables include

Partnering with the Skin of Color Society on SOCS Serves offers an opportunity to visibly lead in health equity, workforce diversity, and community trust areas increasingly prioritized across industry, policy, and patient landscapes.

SPONSORSHIP LEVELS & DELIVERABLES

This is more than a sponsorship; it is a partnership with measurable, impactful, and mission-aligned value. Through high-visibility branding, powerful storytelling, and proven community impact, your support will empower students, elevate skin health literacy, and help close persistent equity gaps in dermatologic care.

Join us in creating a stronger, more inclusive future, one student, one patient, and one community at a time. Together, let's lead with purpose and make lasting change.

MY BEST WINTER SKIN

Beginning in 2026, My Best Winter Skin (MBWS), a previous service initiative, will roll into SOCS Serves—a strategic evolution from a seasonal awareness campaign into a dynamic, year-round service initiative that expands public dermatologic education and fosters a more diverse dermatology workforce through impactful community outreach and pathway-focused engagement.
